Youth Retracts Confession Of Killing Girl

Thomas Marsh, 15-year-old lad residing in the Shoestring strip, who formerly attended Torrance High School, has repudiated his previously reported confession that he shot Dolores Conn, age 16, in a fit of jealousy, it was stated yesterday, and the lad now is in the hands of juvenile authorities awaiting disposition of his case. Following the death of the Conn girl Feb. 9, reports stated that Marsh had confessed killing the girl because she taunted him about her friendship with other boys, particularly Rollie K. Wills, 1101 W. 190th street. Marsh said in juvenile court yesterday, "we were only having a playful scuffle when the gun went off." The court ordered that Marsh be given a psychopathic examination. Parents of the Conn girl were not pressing charges, it was reported.

105 Attend Rites For William, Paul Husbands

"This is it. Better get moving!" Paul fired first at Jack, police were told, piercing his cuff, then shot William in the heart as he tried to escape, and finally went into the back yard and shot himself in the head. Paul, who police learned had been accused by his brothers of not carrying his share of taxes on the property, died on the way to Harbor General Hospital. William succumbed an hour later.

Police said they found three empty shells and three live cartridges in the gun when they arrived on the scene. Born in Arkansas, both brothers came to Torrance over 25 years ago. William lived at 1733 Cabrillo ave, and was an employee of the National Supply Company, a charter member of the Loyal Order of Moose, Torrance Camera Club, Rod and Gun Club, and a member of the V.F.W. Besides the D.S.C., he was awarded the Croix de Guerre and the Cross of Warrfield for his services in the first World War.

An expert photographer, he frequently made pictures for the Torrance Herald, and was called upon regularly for photographic work at National Supply. He is survived by his widow, Ethel, and two brothers, Jack and John E.

Paul, a member of the V.F.W. and the American Rifle Association, leaves his son, Paul, Jr.

Approximately 5,000 low bracket Los Angeles County employees were granted wage hikes by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

It was a 3 to 2 vote, Supervisors Roger Jessup and William A. Smith dissenting.

The increases will range from $6 to $12 a month, and have been referred to as the "$6, $8 and $12" salary boost plan, becoming effective April 1. Beneficiaries of the raise receive $211 a month or less.
